

Privacy Policy

Your right to privacy is very important to us. We understand that when you choose to provide Carbon-info.org with information about yourself, you trust us to act in a responsible manner. We believe the information you provide should only be used to help us provide you with better service. That is the main reason why Carbon-info.org have put a privacy policy in place to protect your personal information.

What personal information do we collect?

Some examples of information Carbon-info.org will collect are name, address, phone number and email address. The information are collected for our own marketing purposes only.

Protecting your privacy

Carbon-info.org will take appropriate steps to protect your privacy. Whenever you provide sensitive information, we will take reasonable steps to protect it. We will also take reasonable security measures to protect your personal information in storage.

We will not provide or sell any of your personal information to other companies or individuals without your permission. However, we may need to provide your name and delivery address to third parties that Carbon-info.org uses for the purposes of delivering specific services to you. When this is the case, we will inform you about this in advance.

Carbon-info.org work in partnership with third party sites and may provide links to these third party sites. Since we do not control those websites, we encourage you to review the privacy policies of these third party sites.

Use of cookies

Carbon-info.org does not utilise cookies as part of our on-line resource.

Data storage in the U.K.

Any information that Carbon-info.org needs to store and process will be carried out on databases located in the UK only.